Eighth Annual Convention of the Trans-Mississippi Congress in Session at Omaha, Yesterday's Proceedings.

Omaha, Nov. 25.—When the eighth annual convention of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress began at 11 o'clock this morning at Crookton hall, with President George Q. Cannon of Salt Lake in the chair, the members of the various delegations from all parts of the country were present. After prayer by the Rev. Frank Crans, W. W. Carpenter, of Chicago, Mr. Cannon, and Governor Silas A. Holmes welcomed the delegates. The Governor, Prince of New Mexico, responded.

At the beginning of the afternoon session the committees were appointed and credentials examined and the convention adjourned. This was the first subject under discussion this afternoon. Professor Waterman, of Los Angeles, and Captain Hough Craig, of San Francisco, discussed "American Shipping." This concluded the afternoon session.

The opening of the public reception was deferred to the next day.

The evening session of the body opened with the singing of hymns and a brief service.

Mr. Johnstone said that the mutual jealousies of the powers of Europe, with respect to their colonies, had prevented them from intervening in those affairs.

Mr. Terrell, who is a Mohammedan, also gave another report, more moderate, to Americans visiting the Holy land, for the Christians were more numerous than the Moslems.

Three days later the speakers declared war, the condition not alone being that the Moslems were more numerous, but in nearly all of Asia Minor, Turkish officials and Asiatic slaves daily preach the religion of the world, and the rank and file of Moslems are to those who kill a Christian dog.

No Protection for Americans.

Mr. Johnstone said that the mutual jealousies of the powers of Europe, with respect to their colonies, had prevented them from intervening in those affairs.

The Turkish soldiers are trained, unpaid, half-starved, anxious for work and always ready to strike.

The sentiment of the body was with him throughout.

This topic consumed the whole session, and many members joined in the discussion.

The chairman of the executive committee is attracting much attention.

He said to-night: "I do not care if the other nation will not touch ground recently, and is no longer a subject of nest interest, but the convention has much to do with the relations of the white metal."

The matter of freight discriminations will undoubtedly be one of the chief topics of discussion.

The discussions of forestry, irrigation, harbors and deep waterways and the like will be attended with much interest.

The further programme is now partially outlined. As far as it is now prepared it includes the following:

In the Books Mountain Region;

John R. Park, of Salt Lake City; "The Hawaiian Islands"; "The Negean Coast"; Captain W. L. Merri, of San Francisco; Frank Moore, of St. Louis; James V. Johnson, of Sioux City; and Captain John Bryson of Davenport, Ia.; "Deep Waterways," A. P. McGuire, of Liverpool; "Navigation," ex-Governor Prince and others.
